Mr. McKee says that occasionally he gets hold of a dog that is far too valuable to kill, in which case he makes an effort to find the owner and failing in this sells it for the price of the tax. Every morning the dogs are brought out of the ound for inspection and McKee sets in udgment on them. Once in a while he is n doubt and looks over one more carefully. This is noticed by the other dogs, who at that moment all stop howling and eem to understand that the prisoner is waiting for his verdict.

Mr. Kennan will lecture at the First M. E. church on Saturday evening, March 29, on "Siberia." Mr. Kennan's personal experiences and knowledge of the cruelties and hardships to which the Siberian exiles are exposed, having been an eye witness, adds a great interest to his discourse: His pleasing and foreible style has made him a great favorite in the lecture field, while his words carry with them the weight of truth. The Boston Journal says:

Mr. George Kennan held another great audience spell bound in Tremout temple last evening, discoursing upon West Siberian steppes and prisons. The Becture was a new one—in fact, it had never been delivered before—and it is not an exaggration to say, that it was the best soap finisher.

The ingredients come out of the mixer full grown and rounded out soap but at a slightly elevated temperature. It is turned into frames and within twenty-four hours the five hundred pound cakes of soap are ready to be cut up into ten ounce cakes. The cakes are placed in the drying room and allowed to remain there five or six days when they are pressed, being subjected to 300 pounds per square inch. This shapes them nicely, puts on the mane and affords an opportunity for putting on any limishing touches desired.

two daughters. A favorite pastime of his is to stand similst the merry throng and chaluge them to pull him down. But they neve succeed, either separately or united. The coar has most wonderful strength of muscle. He can bend a horseshoe or airnogle a bear by mere force of hand. Once while in Denmark, when a conjurer was showing his skill, the case offered to produce a specimen of his own

Mrs. Rendal, the actress, says that "a girl's first love is the religion." It might also be remarked that a Chimaman's first love is his cash, and the person who gots it from him must be artful indeed. Becently a New York Catestini joined his fortunes with those of a white girl, but failed to contribute much to her support. She bought a buby and pained to off on him as their child. By this means
